

Python Hunters - Greg Graziani Biography

Greg Graziani Character, the Muscle

With his hunky good looks and tightly coiled energy, Greg Graziani is the charmer of the group whose deep connection to reptiles dates back to his school days when he made extra money catching snakes and selling them to pet shops. Strong, fearless and unflappable in the face of danger, this former cop now runs Graziani Reptiles Inc., a family-run breeding facility for ball pythons in Venus, Florida, where he works tirelessly to create new strains for a large and ever-growing number of hobbyists. Passionate about ridding the Everglades of Burmese pythons, Greg is also working with rare albino alligators, turtles, lizards, crocodiles, venomous snakes, and giant pythons.
